Il colore nascosto delle cose

Emma: Teo, you saved us.

Teo: Just so I don't miss my dinner, let's be clear. Then on your right is the clothes rack.

Patti: I'm closing the door, okay?

Teo: Throw the suitcases on the ground and I'll put these here.

Patti: On the ground?

Teo: Yes.

Emma: It's cozy, isn't it?

Teo: So are you ready for the guided tour? We're in the living room, on your right here's a sofa...

Emma: Cute.

Patti: Fake leather?

Teo: And here... be careful, this dining room table is iron and wood.

Patti: And this?

Teo: I need to tidy up. And on the left is the kitchen. [Emma bumps into something.] What happened? Did you hurt yourself?

Patti: What's this... a transparent chair? Is a transparent chair a good idea? What a place!

Teo: Come here, come here, come near us.

Patti: That's better.

Teo: Here's a little sitting room with a couch.

Emma: Where we'll sleep.

Teo: Where I'll sleep.

Patti: No, Teo, tomorrow I have to leave, don't put the sheets on.

Teo: Don't worry about it, it's not a sofa bed and you both can't even fit on it. So you'll sleep in the bedroom but first I have to rescue Orazio.

Patti: Your cat?

Teo: He's kind of like a pet, but he cleans instead of making a mess.

Emma: Oh how nice, I want one too.

Patti: What is it? Feel this, doesn't it feel like a small tank?

Teo: It's a robot vacuum.

Patti: It's like giant eyelashes moving.

Emma: What's this, a bump?

Teo: No, this is his eye, with this he makes a map of the room, so he knows how to move.

Emma: Lucky him!

Patti: This Orazio is starting to annoy me!

Teo: Orazio, rest assured that they are good people, not bad.

Patti: The wine should be put in the fridge, or it'll get warm.

Teo: Yes, I'll take the wine. Follow me, let's go to the kitchen.
